High school bond issue set for Nov. 8 vote

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

Residents of the Granite City School district will decide the fate of Granite City High School on Nov. 8.

On Tuesday night, the Granite City School Board unanimously approved a resolution calling for a $12-million bond issue to appear on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Proceeds from the bond sale would be used for renovation and restoration of the 67-year-old facility.

The bond issue would require over a one-year period by continuing an existing property tax of 34 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the district's working cash fund. That tax is currently being used to repay a bond debt that will be repaid in December.

The referendum will read as follows:

"Shall the Board of Education of Granite City Community Unit School District Number 9, Madison County, Illinois, alter and repair the Granite City High School building and issue a $12,000,000 tax of said school district to the amount of $12,000,000 for purpose?"

A "yes" vote in November would authorize continuation of the working cash fund tax at the 34-cent rate.

If the ballot question fails, that tax levy would disappear.

"The facility, aesthetically and educationally, is in dire need of renovation and restoration," said Superintendent Steve Balen.

He cited overcrowding and deterioration in the present building as the main reasons the renovations are needed.

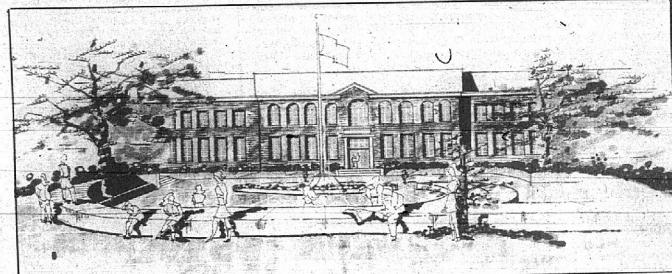

"I think a walk-through of the high school will demonstrate the need to renovate and restore it," Balen said.

Electrical problems - related to the existence of much of the original wiring installed in 1927 - deteriorating roofs and leaky ceilings, leaking pipes and soiled carpeting and other close restrooms that are not handicapped accessible, rotting windows, frames and dangerous sidewalk edges among the items that need attention.

Balen said that the district has "a rare opportunity" to raise $12 million without raising the property tax rate.

Board member Jeff Parker suggested that the district open the building to the public sometime in October and make tours and architectural plans available to show the need and the proposed remedy.

School look would change dramatically Firm to design renovation plan

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

Granite City High School could have a completely new look by 1995.

On Tuesday, the Granite City School Board hired Huff Architecture Group to design the renovation and restoration of the 67-year-old high school located at the intersection of Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue.

A proposed $12-million renovation of the high school, contingent on the successful passage of a bond issue on the Nov. 8 ballot, would begin in April 1995 and be completed by January 1997 under the Huff proposal.

The project would be done in phases, allowing students to attend school while work is performed.

The Huff firm and Thompson Design Inc. submitted competing proposals to the school board Tuesday night.

Each proposal included about $1 million in renovations, leaving another million dollars from the proposed bond sale to use for other items such as new furniture or design changes.

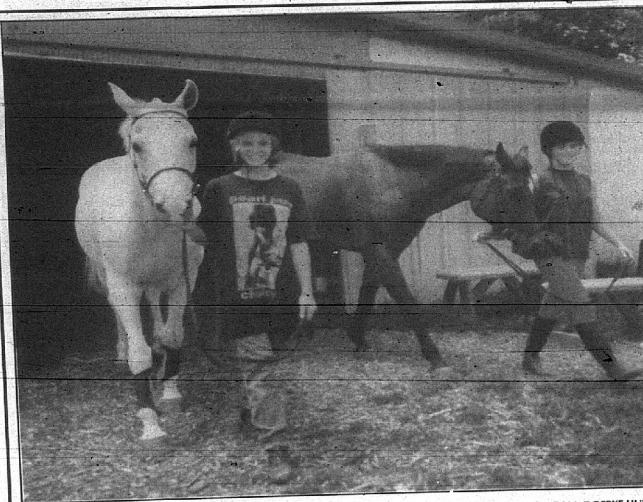

Both firms had presented more expensive renovations plans in April. Each firm presented several options at that time, ranging in cost from $11.5 million to $28 million.

The projects presented this week were scaled down to fit the district's budget. Neither proposal this week included seismic reinforcement to allow the building to withstand an earthquake.

The $1.159-million in new building additions: $1,010,000 for building remodeling; $1,030,000 for a completely new electrical system; $1,725,000 for new heating, ventilating and air

Youngster finds his field of dreams

Nine years ago, few people would have predicted that Corey Lynch would ever walk.

But thanks to a concerned Shriner, Corey, a victim of cerebral palsy, has found his field of dreams.

Corey, now 12, is an integral part of his Granite City Park District baseball team and his team manager, Kelly Hogan.

"Primarily, I use him in bunting situations. He's the best bunter I've got," Hogan said.

"He's had at least eight or nine RBI's this year, and he's bunting in squeeze situations."

But Hogan said, Corey is more important for his off-the-field contributions to the team.

"He just plays with a lot of energy. He never complains.

He never gives up. I've used him as an example to my players."

"If all the rest of the boys played with as much heart and intensity as Corey, we would be unbeatable," Hogan said.

Corey was born prematurely, like most preemie babies, but tiny lungs were not fully developed and Corey needed the assistance of a respirator to breathe. Doctors told Corey's parents, Jessie and Debbie Lynch, that his development might be a little slower than other children.

"The doctor said he'd catch up, but he never did," Jess Lynch recalls.

When Corey was still not walking at the age of two years, Debbie became concerned. A doctor told them Corey's muscles were just weak.

"But the Lynch's sought

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Madison school talks continue

Even though teachers have no contract, the school board, administration and teachers' union say they expect to bring schools to start Aug. 22 as planned, without a teachers' strike.

Both the Madison teachers' union and the Madison School District 12 Board of Education have been called upon negotiations for assistance with contract negotiations, which have been going on since January. Currently, the board and the union are discussing over financial matters.

Interim Superintendent Hilda Everage said last week that Don Smith, president of the teachers' union, had threatened a strike. Smith denied making the threat.

However, even though Smith said teachers do not want to strike and that they'll do anything to avoid it, "we won't take pay freezes when (administrators) are getting raises."

Topless bar owner pleads guilty

Brooklyn Mayor Ruby Cook has plenty of ideas about what the village could do with a $1 million trust fund it would be set up for the village as part of the settlement of a suit against the owners of several area topless bars and massage parlors.

H. Lee Rappaport, owner of P.T.'s topless Show Club in Saugerties and Centreville and Roxy's in Brooklyn, is charged with conspiring to launder $2.9 million in prostitution money.

In a proposed guilty plea agreement filed last week in federal court, the company has agreed to sell Roxy's and The Red Garter in Brooklyn and an office building and condominium in Belleville to help pay a criminal fine of more than $1 million and to establish a $1 million trust for Brooklyn residents.

A sentencing hearing is scheduled for Nov. 4 before U.S. District Judge William Stiehl. H.L. Enterprises could be fined up to $5.8 million.

Suspect in shooting released

A shortage of witnesses has forced Madison County prosecutors to put an attempted murder suspect back on the streets.

Daniel DeRuntz, 39, of New Douglas, was released last week after Assistant State's Attorney Rich Rybak acknowledged he was not prepared to take the case to trial.

Attorneys had selected a jury the previous week and planned to begin trial.

DeRuntz is charged with the Nov. 3 attempted first-degree murder of Randall Dukett of Granite City. DeRuntz is accused of shooting Dukett in the neck and face with a 12-gauge shotgun while driving on Illinois Route 111 near Horseshoe Lake Road.

Madison County Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner released DeRuntz on his own recognition after Rybak admitted he was not able to locate witnesses.

Expenses still rising from flood

While last summer's floodwaters have receded, work to repair damages associated with the Flood of '93 continues in Granite City and Venice.

As many as 50 of 57 sanitary sewer breaks in Granite City during the past year may have been related to high groundwater associated with the flood, authorities say.

The Water Emergency Management Agency has said it will reimburse up to 90 percent of the costs associated with repairs to sewer lines damaged by the flood. So far, the city has expended $1,231,827 on repairs to 27 of the failed sewer lines.

That figure could climb to more than $1.5 million. In Venice, at least 10 sewer breaks have been identified as flood-related. FEMA has appropriated more than $350,000 for repairs to those lines, including $34,029 to reconstruct a sewer main near Fourth Street.

Laub withdraws lawsuit

Now that it has adopted a budget to her liking, Granite City Township Assessor Darlene Laub will drop a year-old lawsuit filed against the Town Board.

On Aug. 2, the Town Board approved a $905,990 township budget for fiscal year 1995 that includes $328,440 for the assessor's office. Laub says she notified her attorney the next day.

The lawsuit alleged that a cut in her requested budget last year was politically motivated.

A car burglary team, so successful it was giving away stereo equipment, was shut down when South Roxana police arrested two men, police said. Two suspects are thought to be responsible for at least 17 car burglaries in South Roxana, East Alton, Cottage Hills, Rosewood Heights, Bethalto and Carterville, South Roxana Police Chief Dennis Carpenter said.

Ruby L. Legate, 17, who gave an address in the 500 block of Southard Avenue in South Roxana, and Lance D. Howard, 20, who gave an address in the 100 block of East Fifth Street in Roxana, were arrested at Legate's home, where police recovered several thousand dollars worth of equipment, Carpenter said.

"We have an auditorium full of stereo equipment," he said. "The items are quality equipment. One set of speakers are the type used in Porsches and cost between $400 and $600 per pair."

"A majority of the equipment was located in Legate's home, and there was other stuff scattered in various residences between here and Meadowbrook. They had stolen so much stuff they were giving it away."

Legate and Howard were each charged with six counts of theft, and the total value was set at $200,000 each.

Three charges stemmed from burglaries in South Roxana and three from Bethalto burglaries.

"Bethalto is also involved in the investigation," Carpenter said.

The two, who police said have been breaking into cars for about a month, stole mostly high-quality stereo equipment, Carpenter said.

Police were tipped on the burglary spree Monday by a man arrested on other charges.

"During our interview he decided it was time to talk," Carpenter said.

After learning where the items were kept, the officers began an investigation that resulted in a search warrant.

More charges could be filed as the investigation continues, police said.

Car chase ends in crash, five charges

A car chase which started in Venice resulted in a crash and five traffic charges in Madison later after midnight Tuesday.

According to police reports, a Venice police officer attempted to make a traffic stop of a 1977 buick Oldsmobile Cutlass.

After the Oldsmobile was pulled over, the driver of the vehicle, Orlando Green, 25, East St. Louis, allegedly drove away until he hit the curb on a sidewalk.

Green, who was driving a police car and headed east on Broadway Avenue toward Madison.

Venice police then pursued Green at speeds in excess of 60 mph down Broadway.

The Oldsmobile allegedly crossed the median into other lanes of traffic several times.

Police reports said once the Oldsmobile crossed the Market Street, Madison police then joined the chase.

Police said Green continued to drive the Oldsmobile recklessly through a residential neighborhood to Highland Avenue, where the vehicle slammed into a rented, parked Chevrolet and burst into flames, killing the driver and striking a parked 1989 Chevrolet owned by Gerald Sorenson of Madison on the left side of the street.

When the Oldsmobile came to a stop, police reported Green jumped out of the car and ran west down the alley between Market and Second Streets.

After a foot chase around Second Streets, the old Madison Junior High School, Green fell to the ground.

Green was apprehended by Madison police and charged with driving under the influence, suspended, fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer, failure to give information after striking an unattended vehicle, reckless driving and operation of an uninsured motor vehicle.

In a letter to Gregory, Clohessy said Gregory was "vulnerable kids" to be around Peterson for five months after the initial abuse was reported.

He cited a doctor's report that found the victim's behavior consistent with sexual assault, an Illinois Department of Children and Family Services report which supports the accusation and a letter from the state's attorney saying that "children may be at risk" if Peterson were allowed to stay in the diocese.

"It is important that Father Margason and other diocesan officials would jeopardize kids in light of this evidence..." Clohessy's letter stated.

Grand jury delayed in Darr case

Prosecutors have postponed a grand jury inquiry into what role alcohol may have played in an accident involving Madison County Emergency Management Agency Director Lanny Darr and his county-employee son.

State's Attorney William Haine said a grand jury hearing scheduled for Thursday has been rescheduled for Aug. 18 to give investigators more time to prepare their case.

Haine said it would cost hospital officials to turn over the results of blood tests taken the night Darr was admitted to see if alcohol was a factor in the crash.

Parkview School renamed to honor Monroe Worthen

By Bob Slatte
Staff writer

Don't call it Parkview. The Granite City elementary school located on Maryville Road and surrounded by sites like Monroe Women's Park is now officially named "L. Monroe Worthen Elementary School".

The Granite City School Board unanimously approved the change at its meeting Tuesday night.

Worthen served continuously on the school board for 34 years and was president of the board when he died May 24 at his home at age 60.

He had held that office and other offices, including school treasurer, many times during his tenure and left behind a legacy of programs implemented for several generations of students. He was co-founder of the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program and served as president of the DARE Committee. Many Granite City schools were planned and constructed during his long tenure, including Granite City High School North, now the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

Superintendent Steve Balen said the action was a fitting tribute to a man who served the district without pay for more than half of his life.

"We have schools that are named after streets (Maryville), Parkview is so named because it is next to the Park and Lake Elementary School is named for its proximity to the two lakes."

"But I feel Worthen strongly it is fitting to name a school after someone who has given so much to our community, who worked very hard for the benefit of the kids," Balen said.

He said that Parkview's reputation for excellence and its location adjacent to Worthen Park — named for Milton Worthen, a former Park Board member and native of Granite City — made it the ideal building to dedicate to the former board president.

"The two would seem to be a good match, and I think it is an honor for that school. I hope (the board) does this. It is an honor, in my mind, that is due and somewhat overdue," he said.

At least one person attending the meeting objected to the change — or at least its timing. Linda Nobus, of the 3200 block of Kilarney Drive, said that she PTA had already printed materials using the name "Parkview".

"Why not name it 'Agnes Fryntzko'?" Nobus asked, referring to a 36-year employee of the district who served as principal at Parkview for 20 years before retiring in 1986.

Balen said that several suggestions were received every year regarding the renaming of buildings. He also pointed out that buildings are usually named in honor of deceased persons.

"Agnes Fryntzko is very much alive and kicking," Balen said.

Board member Carolyn Nemeth asked when the matter had ever before been discussed at a board meeting.

Board member Jim Noeth said that the matter may have never been discussed at a board meeting, but that it had been discussed informally. He pointed out that he had suggested naming a school after Monroe Worthen as early as the night of Worthen's death and that it had been mentioned before in the newspaper.

"I know you have heard of this or else your ears were not attuned at that particular time," Noeth told the board.

Board member Eldin Rea said he agreed with the concept but suggested giving parents and other persons associated with the school an opportunity to comment prior to taking action.

Pontoon board delays zoning plans

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Although there were two recommendations from the zoning board, the Pontoon Board of Trustees took little action concerning either at Tuesday's regular board meeting.

Zoning hearings were conducted earlier this month — from Randy Viessman Aug. 4, and for Lamar and Lillie K. Moore Aug. 5.

On a petition from Lamar and Lillie K. Moore, the trustees requested a special use permit to move another mobile home onto the site at 4300 Elliott Lane.

After hearing objections to the unsightly mobile home proposed by the zoning board recommended this request to the board of trustees as long as open truck trailers are closed or removed and remaining truck trailers are stored in an orderly fashion, metal and debris is removed, rock on Highway 162 is removed and stored behind the truck trailer on an earthen location and the mobile house is sanded and the roof repaired.

The board did not act on the zoning board's recommendation because the legalities of having two mobile homes on the two acres of property must first be investigated.

The zoning board also recommended for approval the rezoning of Viessman's land at 4552 Highway 162 from B-1 to B-2 General Business.

Viessman plans to use the property as a moving service, and restrictions on the zoning board's recommendation are cars are not allowed in front or on the side of the building, cars are kept in the fenced area only, gates are added to a wood fence and cars are only allowed to maximize the use of 10 days.

The board will hold a public hearing on the matter at 7 p.m. before its next regular meeting scheduled for Aug. 22.

In other news, Billie Tindal Jr. and Richard F. Ryan will be allowed to add a modular office building to their property at 4300 Horseshoe Lake Road, which was originally rezoned to B-2 General Business.

"Is it a mobile home or not? Is it coming on wheels?" asked Trustee Bill Ross.

Ross explained that the building will come in on wheels, but it will be placed on a permanent foundation and attached to an existing building.

Bob Bartholemey, with the exception of Ross, voted in favor of the office building as long as it is placed on permanent footing and foundation, the roof is attached to the existing building to the new one and it passes inspection of Building Inspector Bob Bartholemey.

New business is coming to Pontoon Beach. The board approved a new business license and two final plats for a subdivision. All board members, except for Bob Vincent, voted in favor of the license application from Stephen Eugene Cardwell for a pet shop at Oakmont Shopping Center.

Cardwell will open a pet shop at 4300 N. IL 1A in Oakmont Shopping Center "hopefully by October."

Also approved were final plats for Billings subdivision Lot No. 1 and Billings second subdivision

Lot No. 1. On a petition of disconnection from Pontoon Beach from John and Vincentia Schwartz of Holiday Mobile Home Park, Trustee Mike Macek made a motion and Bob Abel made a second to immediately place the petition on file. The board approved the motion.

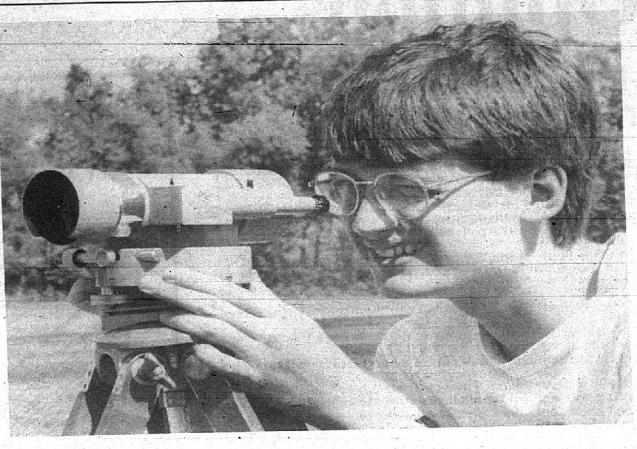

In other business, the board will look further into the possibility of a cable franchise agreement with Crown Media.

The agreement between the village and Crown expired May 21.

Ross explained that the town which does not have cable. I have no problem with the extension if all of those who want cable can get it," said Macek.

Time for school

It's only early August, but for parents of school-age children, thoughts are turning to the opening of school. It's time to get those physical exams, round up school supplies and check out the fall wardrobe.

Unfortunately, for those in the Madison School District, those thoughts are being intertwined with the harsh rhetoric of officials of the district and the union that represents its teachers.

Interim Supt. Hilda Everage last week charged that Don Smith, president of the teachers' union, had obliquely threatened a teachers' strike. Smith denied saying the teachers would strike.

This week, all parties involved said that they expect school to start as scheduled on Aug. 22.

Hopefully, that will be the case. But whenever the "S" word pops up, there is cause for alarm.

Of course, charges and counter-charges between teachers and their employers are part of what has become an annual battle in many areas: Financially-troubled school districts fighting to keep a lid on salaries and unions fighting for the raises they feel their members deserve.

Considering that salaries are a major part of every school district's budget, the fights are not unexpected. Nor is it surprising that such a battle is occurring in Madison, which has faced severe financial problems for many years.

What is perhaps most distressing in this situation is the personal nature of the battle that is taking place in Madison. Two of the major complaints coming from the teachers' union relate to the $10,000 raise Everage received upon her elevation to the district's top post and the $9,000 in vacation pay that her predecessor, Dan Kostencik, received upon leaving the district.

The total amount of money involved in those two cases, while significant, is obviously not enough to make a major difference in the district's financial well-being or its ability to give teachers a pay raise.

If the teachers' union is basing its refusal to accept the district's offer solely on basis of those cases — or on political considerations — it is doing a disservice not only to the school district but to its own members as well. Hopefully, both sides can leave personalities and politics out of the dispute concentrate on the real issues and get the situation settled quickly.

Another turf battle

The Madison County Board hasn't even taken a vote on creating a health department and already board members are jockeying to protect their turf.

In a meeting last week, County Board member Dick Worthy cautioned that while he supports the creation of a health department, he'll fight to prevent the gutting of the county Environmental Control Office, which he oversees as a committee chairman.

Worthy is justly proud of that office's track record, particularly in the area of solid waste disposal, which he has made this personal crusade.

Worthy says he will not oppose transferring the monitoring of wells and sewage system inspections from Environmental Control to a health department, but will resist giving up any other functions. He also expressed fears that the board's Environmental Control Committee could be dismantled in the process of transferring duties.

We wonder, however, if relinquishing some functions to a health department might not actually enhance other offices' ability to do their jobs.

While we understand Worthy's concern, we hope he and other board members will not let turf battles get in the way of the valuable services that can be offered county residents by a health department.

An 'unfortunate incarceration'

This commentary is by Journal columnist Carol Clarkin.

The young rock star currently in the cast of "Dave's World," actress Anthony Bouvier, of "Designing Women," is one of my favorite comic talents — and never more than in his "Anthony" role. Constantly on edge, nervously glancing over his shoulder, ever looking any minute to have someone or something waiting up behind him. Done well, it's a knowledge that you can run but you can't hide.

But do I know where Anthony was coming from when he referred to his "recent unfortunate incarceration"? Whether the sounds are those of clanging metallic doors or of a squeaking guinea, incarceration is just that — and no day is as good as another as good a time as any for that. "I'm not outta it!" la Jack Handey.

I've always prided myself that I could roll with the punch as well as the next cat and it's more than a trifling pleasure to learn that it ain't necessarily so.

When you get up one morning, feeling like you've been rode hard and put up in a suitable wet, you've got to suspect that life's telling you that you've gotten too big for your britches. And remind yourself that you've probably authored your own problems all by your lonesome, you lazy, self-indulgent Xx*Y!! You know you're sick when you actually yearn for a good old rebellious, recalcitrant attitude. No, Ma! Nice Girl! Climbing the walls, planning a prison break. Super-critical. Who the hell ate this stuff before they brought it to me on a luncheon tray? Wake me up at 3 a.m. for an IV and then tell me to go back to sleep!

Can't someone in a nice room of scientists and brain surgeons tell you that that's bigger than a pea pod in which, as the sole sex, you're crowded? Ever hear of bathroom privacy, buddy?

I'm kidding, of course. There are some awfully nice fellows and gals out there at Anderson. Study shoulders, lean on them when you need them, folks with a lot of empathy who know exactly the right thing to say and do. That's what I'm talking about. Like the cool lady on the way down, great pools springing from her pores. She's the one who wants to hear, Didn't you have a fun time? She's the one who approached me with a smile. "Pain City" has been though it's not as bad as you think, stay cool," she said with authority. She was right, of course. And she was only one of several who I'll want around the inevitable next time. Good buddies, right?

My parents reared me properly. To say "please," and "thank you," and "excuse me" is it's time for "thank you" from me to you. You're welcome, you are.

Those same parents dropped small pearls of wisdom in my youthful path, hoping I'd stumble over couple. Mom's were along the lines of stitching in time, never putting off till tomorrow what must be done today. Great oaks springing from little acorns. Still, no one wants to hear, Didn't you have a fun time? She's the one who wants to hear, Didn't you have a fun time? She's the one who Riding instructor Kelly Arnold, right, gives Nikki Albaugh a leg up onto her horse and then gives her tips on how to position her knees properly.

A place to ride

Gateway Stables busy with horses, campers

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

For young people, summer vacation is normally a time for swimming and baseball. However, several area young people spent the summer with something different — horses.

Gateway Stables was the place to be for these hopeful jockeys. Gateway is located at 3514 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, and it is a place which owner Kelly Arnold says, "for horse lovers or, in her other words, 'stable people.'"

Arnold holds four summer camps at Gateway Stables. This summer, beginning camps were scheduled for June 20-24, July 7-8 and Aug. 1-7, with an intermediate camp July 18-22.

Beginning camp teaches inexperienced riders about bridling, grooming and riding.

Arnold said intermediate camp is "for those who are doing the best, those who have been here the longest, the hard-core kids. These (all of whom happen to be) girls also help with the beginning camp."

Arnold got the "camp" idea when she helped with a Girl Scout program in 1992. She was hired from April to July to help set up a program and make trails.

After that, she came back to Gateway Stables and started her own camp program. She said camp expanded last year, and this year it is in full swing.

All different kinds of kids attend camp, according to Arnold. They are from Collinsville, Edwardsville, Wood-River, Granite City and the surrounding areas.

He is almost the only site around for learning English riding. She also mentioned that, when youngsters like it, they often come back for further lessons or just to help out around the barn.

She said many times, at the beginning camp, "horse-crazy kids who really like horses attend, but then they find out how much work the horses are. Some do come back, but some don't."

Arnold is trying to get permission to build an accessory building on her property to use as a classroom and storage building.

"We need a classroom. A TV and VCR would be ruined in a barn with all the dust, but that's one of the best teaching aids. They can see how they look when they're riding," she said.

Arnold also hopes to build an indoor arena, or at least a covered arena, at Gateway Stables. "That way, we'll have somewhere to go when it's raining," she said.

Jaree Bruehl, 14, of Hamel is a regular at Gateway Stables and took beginner camp two years ago.

Now, she is an intermediate rider. About the camp, she said, "It's fun. We learn a lot. We learn how to groom horses for shows, wrap their legs for protection, look for injuries and teach lessons. And, Kelly's great."

Jaree added that some of the intermediate camp goers are helping a boy with cerebral palsy learn how to ride.

She said she loves the stables and visits them all year, including the winter, when people sometimes ride bareback in the aisles. "I try to spend my summers here," she said.

Christina Mangi of Granite City, 13, is also at the stables "almost every day."

Lana Fournier, 13, of Edwardsville mentioned a horse show that many of the camp goers recently attended and even competed in, she said.

Edwardsville was sponsored by The Trailblazers, a saddle club. Gateway Stables took 10 horses.

Jaree competed with "T.J." from Gateway and took a first in hunter hack, which is a jumping class.

Nicole Albaugh, 14, of Troy, rode "Missy" and received a first in youth pleasure, which is walking, trotting and cantering.

Christina Mangi helped Arnold get the horses ready for shipping and saddling.

Teyla Casner, a 10 year-old from Edwardsville, is another regular at Gateway Stables. She said she always goes to the horse show. She competed this year and won fifth in horse basketball and second in ladies pleasure.

Teyla's mother, Denise Maxwell, is also a horse lover who often participates in the camps as an outside teacher.

Jaree said that, because of Arnold, Gateway Stables is not just a place to go to a horse camp.

"Kelly has a lot of people calling for boarding, but she's booked. Sometimes she puts her horses in the aisles, so others can go in the stable."

"She tries her hardest to please everybody. We've already got ducks around here, and we're going to get a pot-bellied pig," she said.

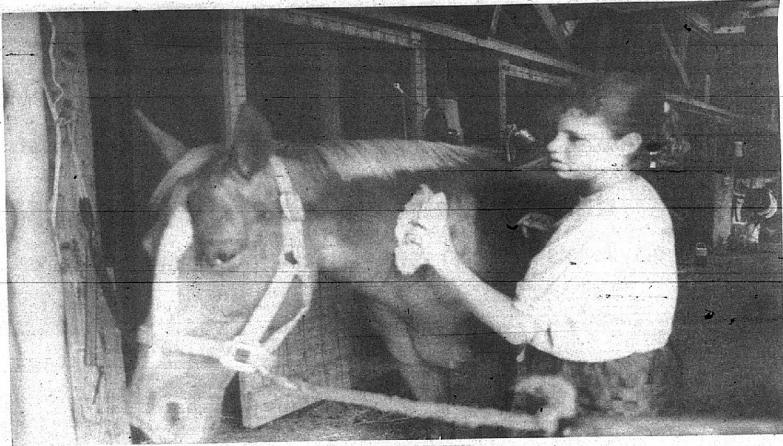

It's become quite the family.

atmosphere at the stables, with everyone pitching in every day to stay ahead of the work in order to keep riding.

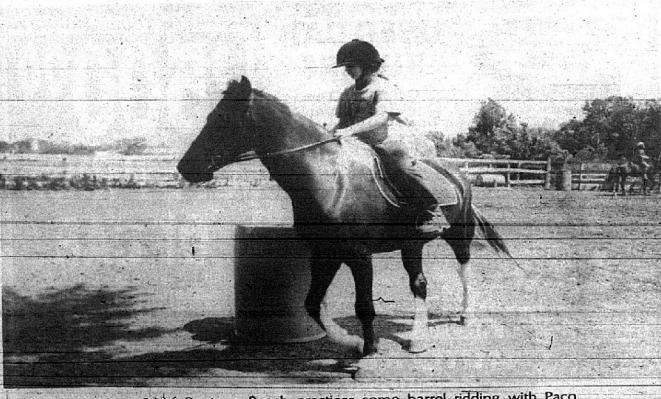

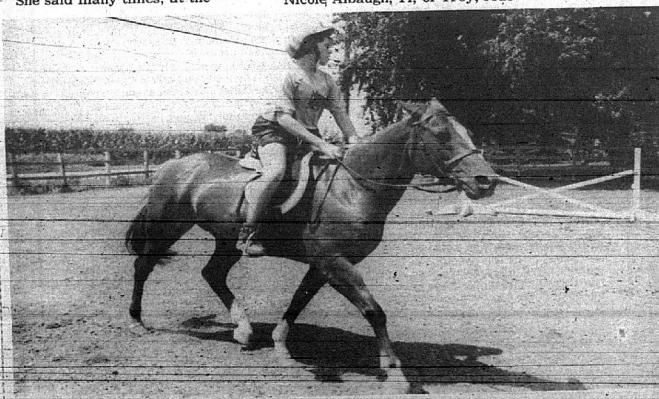

"We're all going to go to the Olympics together someday," said Nicki.

While the fate of improvements needed at the Madison County Jail is being debated in the State Legislature, the overseer of the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home is about halfway complete, officials said.

Detention Home Superintendent Steven Bowker said the 25-year-old building did not meet fire codes or Illinois Department of Corrections standards, and would be magnet for lawsuits without extensive repairs and renovations.

"When this building was opened in 1969 it met all the necessary codes, but things have changed a lot since then," Bowker said.

The Illinois Department of Corrections and Illinois Attorney General's Office gave us an ultimatum to get up to code or we could have lawsuits," he said.

What is included: the building has a poor ventilation system, does not contain proper restroom facilities and does not have a sprinkler system, just to name a few.

Original plans were to start from scratch and build a new detention home, Bowker said, but a $4 million bond referred to in April 1993 financing the building failed by a narrow margin. County Board members decided instead of replacing the building to repair it, and approved $1.3 million for the project from the county's General Fund.

County Director of Buildings and Lands Marty Siglock said construction began April 30 and is expected to be completed by Jan. 1.

Renovations will include more than doubling the number of cells from 15 to 31, Siglock said. Capacity of the building is expected to be increased from 21 detainees to 31 after the expansion.

"We will also be adding a sink with hot and cold running water and a toilet to each room," Bowker said. "A sprinkler system will be added throughout the building and a new ventilation system will be used."

The building also requires extensive repainting to a chronically leaky roof.

While some repairs will generally improve the facility, Bowker said, there is one drawback: Classrooms that are currently located in the basement must be moved to ground-floor rooms eliminating some space the county now rents.

The wing was leased to house juveniles, other counties did not have space for, and it brought in between $40,000 and $60,000 each year, Bowker said.

The budget of the Juvenile Detention Home is about $900,000 a year, Bowker said. About $270,000 of the cost of operating the building is covered by state grants, he said.

The building, which houses alleged murderers and armed robbers among others, will likely need further expansion in the future, Siglock said.

"The renovations will bring the building up to code and increase its capacity. As the population is growing, we're not going away," Siglock said.

Orientation slated

Madison Middle School will conduct a fifth-grade orientation program at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 16, in the Madison Middle School cafeteria.

All new students, fifth through eighth grade, and their parents are invited to attend. The new discipline policy, dress code and middle school curriculum will be among topics of discussion.

Motorcyclist injured in accident

The husband of an anti-drunk driving activist is recovering at home from injuries he suffered in a motorcycle accident near Edwardsville.

Kenneth Deardorff, 32, of Alton was rushed to Wood River Township Hospital shortly after noon Wednesday after he lost control of his motorcycle on Birch Road in Fort Russell Township.

Deardorff, the husband of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers President Carolyn Deardorff, reportedly suffered four broken ribs, a broken collar bone, a broken arm and a punctured lung.

Madison County Sheriff Bob Church said the investigation is not complete and charges may be filed at the end of the week.

"We are conducting a thorough investigation," Churchich said. "There were no other vehicles involved. He was apparently traveling too fast."

"We are waiting for some test results and it's possible there may be a charge," Churchich said.

A police report had not been completed as of Monday. Officials said they expect to complete interviews this week.

Deardorff had been taken by ambulance before deputies arrived.

Recycling law aims at aluminum thefts

Pilfering aluminum cans will be a crime punishable by hefty fines under the county's proposed zoning proposal approved last month by the Madison County Board.

"It's not something we expect to be a major problem, but it's one of those things that's in (the ordinance) so that if a problem should arise, we have a provision for dealing with it," said Joe Parente, director of the Madison County Building, Zoning and Environmental Control Office.

The ordinance provides for $500 fines for individuals who take cans or bottles from recycling bins set on the curb for pickup.

Parente said the measure is intended to discourage people from going up and down residential streets collecting cans from recycling bins.

The provision, which would not apply to scavengers who take old washing machines, furniture or other items from the trash, he said.

The provision requires all businesses doing business in Madison County to provide curbside pickup of recyclables such as aluminum cans, glass bottles and newspaper. The additional provision requires every resident to separate recyclables from household trash, though officials said they have no intention of sending out monitors to make sure no cans or bottles are going into the garbage.

Creek found loaded with pesticides

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Silver Creek near Highland has one of the highest concentrations of pesticides in the state, but an Illinois Environmental Protection Agency official said there is no cause for alarm.

A.G. Taylor, an agency adviser for IEPA, said the results have been fairly consistent since testing was instituted in 1985. But the concentration is so small, there is little concern.

The concentrations are based on the number of parts per billion (ppb) of a chemical found in a sample.

The pesticides in Silver Creek come from surrounding farm property where corn and soybeans are grown.

"Finding chemicals in water is not totally unexpected," Taylor said. "These are low levels, and we continue to show up in water supplies in the state. But we're not seeing any levels that would be toxic to humans."

Although some suspect pesticides in the creek may be banned, Taylor said there are no good alternate control methods for common pests at this time.

"There's a trend to try to find alternatives to implement them, but it will take a long time to mature. I'm still confident experts in agriculture — those on the university level and top-notch researchers — can find continuation of practices that will decrease the use of pesticides," he said.

When the Highland water supply was contaminated with pesticides, the water treatment plant began using a powder carbon filtration system to remove the substances.

Other cities, including Springfield, are looking at a similar approach, he said.

"Even if it (pesticide) shows up in the drinking water supply, it should not cause illness," Taylor said. "It would just put them on notice that they should look at a solution. It's not like people going to the tap to get a glass of water will keep getting sick."

Farmers also have been very cooperative in the IEPA's effort to reduce the amount of pesticide runoff in area streams and have followed some of the direction given by the agency in applying the pesticides, he said.

Taylor said they have been encouraged to allow a buffer zone on their property and not apply pesticides beyond that.

conditioning system; $650,000 to replace plumbing; $485,000 for new roofs; $600,000 to replace all windows; $600,000 for new floor coverings; $600,000 to replace all doors; $180,000 to repair and paint all exterior walls; $420,000 for new drop ceilings; $420,000 for new lights and fixtures; $250,000 for new lockers; $95,000 for masonry cleanup and backfilling; $145,000 for construction; $35,000 for new keyboards and trackboards; $100,000 for new stage lights, a sound system, curtains and rigging in the auditorium.

Under the Huff proposal, a portico would be added to the facade of the rear of the high school, in effect making the back of the existing building the new functional front entrance.

A new socialization area would be constructed outdoors on the south (front) side of the building, blending with and complimenting the existing architecture. The area would be available for student socialization and other informal activities.

A new media center would be constructed along the north (rear) side of the building — adjacent to a new computer lab — in the area that is currently a boiler room — and new study hall. The new construction would tie the rear facades together and provide a central location for the library. The new areas would contain temporary classrooms while renovation of other parts of the building is being completed.

The former maintenance offices, will be remodeled into administrative and guidance offices, will be remodeled into academic classrooms.

The building design would allow the school to bring all teachers in each particular department into a common section of the building.

Each department would be equipped with its own conference room. A new elevator would also be installed along the main east/west corridor to allow handicap accessibility to all three levels.

"I'm personally all for this and hope the community gets behind it," Parker said.

Balen also noted that the state is currently considering several initiatives that would provide matching funds of 30 to 50 percent for school districts undergoing capital projects.

Gridders sweating out earlier start to season

Area coaches questioning IHSA scheduling changes

By Scott Marlon
Staff writer

Prep football in Illinois is starting earlier than ever this year. Last Friday was the first day of practice, with the first game to be played Aug. 26. It's all because the Illinois High School Association decided to require its players to play games which teams played their opening game on Wednesday and had to play again on Saturday. The Wednesday game has been eliminated.

"I DON'T LIKE it — it's too early," said O'Fallon coach Gary Bridell, who noted that the first game of the season usually isn't played until Labor Day weekend. "We've been lucky with the weather lately, but the way it usually is this time of year you can't count on that. We're not in school until Aug. 25 and we start the season on Aug. 26."

"They're doing this to try to solve something on the other end of the season. I would rather see everyone play an eight-game schedule, with the ninth game as the start of the playoffs. This kind of takes the tradition away."

Bridell is not the only coach disappointed with the change. GCHS coach Don Harris said he'd be in for a hot pre-season.

"I don't like it," Harris said. "It's pushing everything up too soon. It's not good in the middle of the summer. It's been very difficult to get organized with vacations and people out of town."

I think the IHSA should revamp the playoffs and get it back to the way it used to be. The benefits at the end of the season don't outweigh the problems in the beginning. It's basically making a summer sport out of a fall sport."

"We're going for a 3-peat," said Darren DePew, Granite City's player/manager. "I don't know if that's ever been done. We have the same bunch as last year, and players like Jeff Stephanik and John Spotsanski have really been key additions. (See EAGLES, Page 4B)

Brown earns four medals in national wheelchair competition

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

Harry Brown came back from the National Veterans Wheelchair Games (NVWG) last month with four medals — not bad for a guy who wasn't even entered in his favorite sport.

Brown, 36, won one silver and three bronze medals in the NVWG, the largest wheelchair sports event in the United States. He took second place home with his shot put, weightlifting event and bronze medals in the 100-meter race, javelin throw and the shot put.

A veteran of the U.S. Army, Brown said that basketball is his favorite sport, but he did not train enough for that event this year.

"THIS WAS MY fifth such competition," he said. "I kind of took it easy this year, and I really didn't put enough time in to go for five events. But I think I'll play basketball next year."

More than 500 athletes from across the country, as well as Puerto Rico and Great Britain, traveled to compete at the 14th NVWG, which was held in Kansas City, Mo., from July 6-9.

Brown said he enjoys the competition and meeting interesting people.

"The competition is pretty steep," Brown said. "There is no other event like this, so all of the best athletes were there."

"I met so many good people that I can't remember all of their names, but two who stood out were (ex-football great) Rosie Greer and Tom Church (president of UPS), a major games sponsor."

The games are sponsored by the Department of Veterans Affairs and the Paralyzed Veterans of America, and are funded with the help of a host of corporations and service organizations.

ATHLETES AT THE NVWG compete according to their ability within three divisions: amputee (over .40), open and novice (first-time competitors). They also compete within three classes according to the level of their physical ability, with three quadruple-leg classes (I, II, III) and four paraplegic or amputee classes (II, III, IV and V). Brown competed as a Class IV in the Open Division.

Besides being a showcase for the athletic and personal achievements of disabled veterans, the games also give recently injured veterans a chance to learn to overcome their disabilities and stay active in sports.

Trivial matters

- East St. Louis has won six state football championships since the playoffs began in 1974. What is the Flyers all-time record in playoff games?

- When Belleville Althoff won consecutive Class 3A state championships in 1989-90, what was the fewest number of points the Crusaders scored in a playoff game? Answers at right.

Community Sports Calendar

Illini football on WIBV
University of Illinois football fans can again catch all of the action this fall on the Fighting Illini Radio Network's WIBV (AM 1260). Illinois' first game airs Sept. 1 when the Illini travel to Soldier Field in Chicago to take on Washington State at 7:30 p.m.

Neil Funk begins his third year as the play-by-play man for Illinois. Jim Grabowski returns for his 17th season as color analyst. Also, WIBV will air "The Illini Today" each weekday and "The Lou Tepper Show" every Wednesday from 7-8 p.m.

Coming up

Midnight Madness
Gene Baker (left) and the Warrior soccer team will open the season with a Midnight Madness practice session Sunday night at The Gauntlet.

Trivia answers
1. The Flyers are 10-10 in playoff action, including a 15-game winning streak from 1983-86.
2. 21. In the 1990 title game, they scored at least 38 in the other nine games.

For fall hunters, summer is right time to prepare

By Bill Seibel
Correspondent

The fall hunting catalogs are arriving. As usual, these get chunked over the corner to be checked out later.

After all, who can think about hunting when the temperature is still in the 90s. More importantly, why do today what can be put off until next week or next month?

This is the typical reaction we have to such thoughts. But the truth is that the time to start preparing is for your fall hunting now. For many good outdoorsmen, we're already a month or so into the hunting season.

Any sport takes preparation and practice. Hunting is one that takes more than its share of both. However, many American hunters tend to let things slide until the last possible moment. For example, if you've done something like riding a bicycle once you learn, you always remember how.

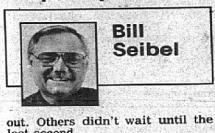

However, to become a good shot, you must first study the techniques of shooting the various types of firearms. Then you must practice, practice, practice those techniques.

But most of us don't do that. The average deer hunter will wait until something in the first or second week of November and then maybe head for the shooting range with a trusty rifle. Then, he'll fire a couple of rounds at 25 yards and a couple more at 100 yards, hit the bullseye (maybe!) and declare himself ready to go deer hunting.

Contrarily, the good hunter already has his rifle sighted and knows exactly what loads he's going to shoot. He'll make a trip to the range and practice, practice, shooting from various positions. Unfortunately, shooting from a bench rest isn't the greatest of practice because we seldom have a deer standing still to have a deer walk out exactly 100 yards away, either.

The same goes for archery shooting, shotgun shooting, handgunning, and whatever.

We also do the same thing to ourselves with clothing and equipment. More than once I've waited until the last second to go shopping for a certain piece of equipment, only to find it sold out. Others didn't wait until the last second.

Bill Seibel

Boots, coveralls, socks, longjohns, belts, knives, axes, other tools, winter camping equipment, sleeping bags, vests, ammunition — all of the stuff you jammed into a corner or onto a shelf at the end of last year's hunting season should be packed out now.

Clean everything. Check the leather goods for dry rot as well as cuts and tears. Check knives, axes and other equipment for rust and sharpness. It's nasty to have to sit up an extra hour the night before the deer season opens, sharpening your knife to score you a morning.

Camping equipment, tarps, ropes and all of the other gear also should be checked carefully. Clean and make sure it is all right to go.

The great advantage of doing this now is that you'll have time to replace that which needs replacement. If it's not broken, it's not fixed. And if you're like me, there's always something or other that needs replacing — or improving.

One big thing everyone always wants to do is to wait until the last minute to take Hunter Education class. In Missouri, anyone born on or after Jan. 1, 1967, must have state Hunter Education certification to purchase a hunting permit. In Illinois, first-time teenage hunters are required to go through a Hunter Education course before hunting.

Even though the hunter education rule in Colorado anyone born after Jan. 1, 1949, must be Hunter Ed certified. If you're going out of state, check on the rules of the place you're going to hunt.

Don't practice makes you feel better about yourself as a hunter. If you've practiced, but still know your limitations.

All in all, results in you being a better hunter, and it usually is the better hunters who have success. And that is what the game is all about.

the standpoint that you used to have a full week of practice and a weekend, plus another weekend of practice is a weekend, before your first game," said Althoff coach Glenn Schott. "Since this Saturday is the first day you can put on pads, along with helmets, it really is only one day for full-scale scrimmaging."

"We're going to have to change our approach to practice. We'll stick with the basic fundamentals, but now we might have to do things along a bit."

Althoff gave physical examinations to its players Aug. 4 and handed out equipment the same day.

"(The earlier start) involves things I don't think the IHSA counted on, like people being in baseball, playoffs and other vacations," Schott said. "There are 552 schools in Illinois that play football, but these changes will benefit only 96 of them. That's 92 percent of the players and about half of them were out after the first-round games on Wednesday."

Belleville West coach Dick Hood has mixed feelings about the earlier start.

the earlier start.

"Personally, it doesn't make any difference to me because football is something I enjoy and something I do with a passion," Hood said. "But we probably are starting a little bit early."

"Starting practice this early, you're going to have family vacations and having problems getting equipment out."

Mascoutah's John Zerjal is another coach who would have preferred to keep the old start date.

"It's only a week, but a lot depends on the weather," Zerjal said. "It could be pretty hot in the past few days of school, so it would be better to have a week off, but now we'll have two."

"Our negative is that our first day of school is Thursday, Aug. 29, and our first fall day is Aug. 30, we play our first game.

As far as holding student interest, that could hurt. But we'll be playing O'Fallon, so there will be no one to impress anyway."

"Another negative is in the respect that we have no lights on our field, that is we'll play six of our nine games before the end of September. We would play on some very hot Saturdays."

Hood wonders how the change will affect the quality of football in the first week or two of the season.

"We're actually going to be playing our first game about the same time we usually have our intramural football," Hood said.

Hood said, "It's been my experience that scrimmage games are sometimes pretty horrible, so a team that's well-prepared and has more experience will have a heck of an advantage over an inexperienced team."

The earlier start for practice has forced coaches to revise their timetable of preparing for the season.

"There's a clock that goes off in my mind where I do things at a certain time," Hood said. "I'm not used to playing our first game in a place where we normally have this week to get things done, and I feel kind of rushed."

Most coaches, however realize that they're dealing with the same bat.

"What I am pleased with is the way these kids are responding," Harris said. "The kids come out early, but they are dedicated and used to working hard."

SPORTS

Player/manager Daren DePew and his Eagle teammates have their sights set on a Mon-Clair League 3-peat this weekend.

•Eagles

It's been a fun year."

Last year, Granite City defeated Waterloo in two games to win the league title. Two years ago, the Eagles outlasted East Alton in two games for the championship. This year, it will take three victories in two days to win the title.

Another change to the Mon-Clair fluids is the neutral site, which was approved by league officials before the start of the season. In past years, teams could gain home-field advantage through the playoffs by finishing with the top record.

In addition, a team can lose this year in the first round and still remain in title contention.

"It's never been all of us," DePew said. "But I think it's going to be a good setting. We all know what the quality of baseball is going to be like. The people who come will see a high level of baseball."

DePew anticipates an atmosphere similar to that of the Valmeyer Tournament, where eight teams meet each summer in an event that concludes July 4.

"I hope it has the same kind of atmosphere," DePew said. "I think that the four best teams are going in, and the best team should come out of it."

Granite City enters the tournament as the team to beat after winning the league title the past two years. The Eagles have also won two straight Valmeyer Tournament titles.

During the regular season, the Eagles finished the North Division with a 20-6 record. Waterloo (23-3) won the South Division. If the Eagles and Buds win in the first round, the two teams will meet at 4 p.m. Saturday with a must-win berth at stake.

But DePew is not looking too far ahead. The Eagles' first-round opponent, Valmeyer, entered the playoffs at 16-3. They will play in a doubleheader July 31 at Valmeyer.

The Eagles crushed Valmeyer 23-5 in the first game, but too late. Lakers bounced back for a 3-2 win in the ninth inning in the second game.

"Valmeyer's a good team," DePew said. "They've really played well toward the end of the season. Anything can happen. You don't want to look past anybody in the first round."

Granite City began the playoffs last weekend with an 8-0 victory over East St. Louis. The Eagles jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the first inning, and a three-hitter by Brian Duncan and cruised behind the pitching of Darin Hendrickson.

Hendrickson went the distance to record the nine-inning shutout. The act right-hander has put together an outstanding season. He threw a no-hitter against O'Fallon on June 12.

On Saturday, Hendrickson shut down the Colt 45s on just three hits.

"He's pitched real well all year long," DePew said. "I've seen him do what he had to do. I've seen him sharper, but we played solid defense behind him and he just kind of critized."

Hendrickson has alternated starts with Brian Harshany, Bob Spotanski, Jamie Hogan and even DePew this season. While the Eagles do not have much depth in the rotation, they are full of players who can play a variety of positions.

Stephens and Duncan have taken turns playing second base. DePew, Harshany, Hogan plays third base, Jamie Hogan plays shortstop and Moad is the team's first baseman.

The outfield is anchored by center fielder Brian Duncan, who includes John Spotanski in left field and Bob Spotanski in right.

Pitching will be a huge key this weekend, as each team will play at least three games in two days. After four games are played Saturday, the teams will play Sunday with a final-round game at 1 p.m. If necessary, a seventh and final game will be played at 4 p.m.

The Eagles do not have a large supply of pitching, but it has proved to be plenty over the past two years.

"This is really going to test your pitching," DePew said. "We might even have John Moad pitch."

"Out of the four teams, Waterloo has the most pitching. (But) the point I make is that it's not necessarily how many players you have, but the quality of pitching you have. Hopefully we have enough that we won't have to stretch anybody."

Eagles Auxiliary decides on funds

Ann Pates, president of Eagles Auxiliary 1126, opened the last meeting of July with the Pledge of Allegiance given by all 29 members in attendance.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and they were approved by all. The president thanked Vicki Zerian and Alta Yurko for hosting the first meeting in July.

The membership chairman reported that one application was received along with two re-enrollments for membership. They will be enrolled later.

Correspondence was read regarding the state and local regulations and licensing of bingo and raffle funds. A motion to approve the raffle proceeds be earmarked for the social fund and the bingo proceeds earmarked for charities and ways and means was passed.

An enrollment ceremony was held for three new members, Karen Entrop, Shirley and Eula "Billie" Harper, and re-enrolling members, Gloria Sieverling and Donna Fultz.

The president announced that Ann Barr and Dorothy Jones Morgan, members, and Connie Motil's father, Mr. Sorenson, has recently passed away and will be remembered in prayers. The charter was to be draped at the next meeting in memory of the deceased member.

The following were remembered with a silent prayer: Maxine Tawney, Mollie Woodard, Brenda Benson, Gertrude Boskey, Rose Bauer, and Ruth Jorgenson's mother who are all recovering from surgery and are worthy.

Jeanne Spencer discussed the "Chatterbox" fees and future distribution of the newsletter. Due to new postal regulations, each member wishes to continue receiving the "Chatterbox" will be an annual $3 fee to help defray the cost of the mailing.

Sandra Hahne, ways and means chairman, announced that the city has granted the club permission for a roadblock on Sept. 2, with the proceeds going to the charity.

Archie Williamson, worthy Aerie state president, has adopted an elephant as his mascot for the year and pins are available. Rita Cucco, state auxiliary project chairman, has pins depicting her motto, "We Care," and pins depicting her "Inspiration" message. The state project this year will be for the heart fund.

We Do Research.*Research that saves lives.

At the American Cancer Society, we fund research that makes a difference.

Through the careful use of funds, we support many of the best cancer research projects in America. That support is one reason why more than half of all new cancer patients now survive.

And that's why 25 American Cancer Society-supported researchers have won the Nobel Prize for their cancer breakthroughs — including ten since 1980.

At the American Cancer Society, we have a commitment to saving lives. And you can join that commitment with a gift through your will.

Your donation can fund additional research projects, projects that could hold the cancer solutions for all future generations.

WARNING: RADON IS DEADLY IN THIS AREA.

You can't see it, smell it or even feel it. It just quietly attacks your lungs, until one day you find you have lung cancer.

It's called Radon. A naturally occurring, radioactive gas that seeps into your home. In fact, it is the second leading cause of lung cancer in America.

If your home has high levels of Radon, you're being exposed to as much radiation as having literally hundreds of chest x-rays in one year.

But there is something you can do about it. Testing for Radon is simple and inexpensive. And homes with high levels can be fixed. Call 1-800-SOS-RADON to get your test information.
